Loving or Living With Someone With Bipolar Disorder: A Support Group

“Love is an act of will – namely, both an intention and an action. Will also implies choice. We do not have to love. We choose to love. The truth is that our finest moments are most likely to occur when we are feeling deeply uncomfortable, unhappy, or unfulfilled. For it is only in such moments, propelled by our discomfort, that we are likely to step out of our ruts and start searching for different ways or truer answers.” Scott Peck

About the Group

This group is designed for those who would benefit from the encouragement and support of others who love or live with someone with Bipolar Disorder.

Though the group is not designed to be educational, experience with previous groups has shown that significant learning takes place through the active participation of group members.
